Plays spotted by James Jones, Jr.
This looks like an adagio dance — with all three in the air — but Mair (42), left and Eddie King (29), right, broke up a pass intended for Joe Branch (48), center, of Nashville.

Nashville's redoubtable spot back Woody Futrell (22) comes around right end for four yards—one of many plays with which he upset Hope Thanksgiving Day. Hope players shown are: Jimmy May (37), Terry Don Thurman (46), and Joe Embury (40). Nashville players: Prentiss Brandon (41), and Joe Cowling (27). (Additional football pictures on page 6).

Millions of People But New York Is Lonely Spot

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK (U) — This is a lonely town for people who are alone. You may think every town is lonely for people alone but this is the town I know.

Believe me, the bigger the town, the lonelier the lonely are. A man alone, may feel lonely. But he will feel more lonely among 5,000,000 human beings if he has nobody to talk to.

If you have nobody to talk to except a cactus plant, you may feel sorry for yourself. But you don't take it personally. If you can't find nobody to talk to among 5,000,000 human beings, you do take it personally. This is the worst kind of loneliness — painful, profound, abiding.

I have made sort of a study of loneliness in this town—along the streets, in the libraries, in the public parks, in the restaurants, and the ease studies which follow have the single virtue of facts.

They are real. No novelist dreamed them up.

To the library at 42nd St. — that's the one with the lions in front — a man called Harold came almost every night, after work. He made a slight pretense of consulting technical journals but mostly Harold came to talk with the ladies at the information desk.

They came to know him as gentle, well-spoken, well-dressed, cultured and as a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Harold also was a hunchback.

He came to talk, but he came also to feed the pigeons on the front steps. Especially, a lone pigeon.

He talked about his aunt and uncle in Boston. He lived alone in New York. Then one day he told the girls at the desk that his aunt had died. Then his uncle.

Reds Belittle Idea Moons Are Measuring Earth

MOSCOW (UP) — The scientists in charge of Russian Sputniks today dismissed speculation in the West that the first two earth satellites are making measurements of the earth as they cross its surface.

The Soviet expert said that instead their latest Sputnik is concentrating on the study of cosmic and solar radiation.

Earth measurements from near space are considered an eventual mission for Sputniks and a vital one. Long range missiles require such data for accurate aiming.

Some details of the Sputniks' operations were disclosed in reply to a questionnaire submitted by United Press Oct. 26 on behalf of a group of astronomers in Cambridge, Mass.

Partial replies came from the International Geophysical Year committee of the USSR Academy of Sciences.

The members of the committee organize and supervise all IGY projects in Russia including Sputnik launches.

One of the Cambridge questions was, "Are measurements of the earth being made?" The Soviet committee's reply was a simple "No."

There was no reply at all to the Cambridge question as to "how many stages were used in the rocket and what was the reflectivity of the final stage?"

But it was made clear for the first time that Sputnik II is using ordinary silver-zinc batteries with mercury oxide elements and not solar or nuclear energy as has been speculated in the West.

How are the other Cambridge questions and the answers received from V. Troitskaya, secretary of the Soviet IGY committee.

1. "Just what information is being telegraphed down from the satellite, specifically (A) are you getting cosmic ray information, (B) are measurements of the earth being made, (C) are you measuring infra red radiation, (D) are meteor impacts being recorded?"

Lions Plan Auction Next Week

Free turkeys will be given away to lucky listeners during the annual Lions Club Radio Auction next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights. Alarm clocks will be set and the last caller before the alarm rings will receive a free turkey.

The main purpose of the auction is to raise money to buy food and clothes for needy families in this area at Christmastime. Merchants in and around Hope have donated hundreds of fine items for auction.

The auction will be broadcast over KXAR each of the three nights starting at 7 p. m. and three telephones will be installed to receive bids.

The auction will be held in the courtroom at the city hall and spectators are invited to attend the auction and bid. Special entertainment is being arranged for each of the three nights.

City Ordinance Is Challenged

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (U) — The American Civil Liberties Union today challenged a city ordinance requiring certain organizations to register with the city clerk, but said it would comply with the new law.

Patrick Murphy Malin of New York City, executive director of the ACLU, said all information requested would be submitted except membership and financial reports. He said the data would be given to the United States Supreme Court as the final interpreter of the meaning of the Federal Constitution.

Alldermen here have asked for reports from six organizations under the ordinance, which is aimed at the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Fire Sweeping Cuba Sugar Cane Fields

HAVANA, Cuba (U) — Fires were reported sweeping over a wide area of sugar cane fields last night in southeast Cuba—set by rebels trying to bring down the government by ridding the sugar crop and causing economic hardship.

The fires were reported in Oriente province, center of rebels led by Fidel Castro, who launched the five offensive several weeks ago. Sugar industry spokesmen in Havana predicted that the burning would fall to ruin Cuba's main export crop.

Meanwhile, there were new but unconfirmed rumors that reinforcements for Castro have landed from Florida and Mexico.

UN Is Urged to Call for French, Tunisia Talks

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (U) — Tunisia pressed an Arab country companion today to urge the U. N. General Assembly to call for negotiations between the French and the Algerian nationalists to settle their three-year war in Algeria.

An Arab diplomat also said an Algerian resolution for such negotiations probably will be introduced Monday in the Assembly's 82-nation Political Committee.

Mongi Slim, Tunisian ambassador to Washington and the U. N., was scheduled as the first pro-negotiationist speaker in the committee's debate on Algeria.

French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau opened the debate Wednesday. He pleaded with delegates to steer clear of "internationalization of the Algerian conflict" and let France go on seeking a "peaceful, democratic and just solution" by crushing the rebellion and introducing electoral reforms to benefit Algerian Muslims.

An average resolution adopted last Feb. 15, the Assembly expressed hope that "a peaceful, democratic and just solution" would be found in conformity with U. N. Charter principles.

While the U. N. debate was going on here, France's Parliament was preparing for a vote of confidence demanded by Premier Edgar Gaillard on a partial home rule bill for Algeria.

King Mohammed V of Morocco and President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia issued a communique last Friday offering their help to France and a nationalist organization, the Algerian Front of National Liberation, to negotiations toward a "just solution" based on the sovereignty of the Algerian people and safeguards for French interests.

The front, in a Rabat statement welcomed it and said negotiations "undertaken on the basis of independence" would end the Algerian war. But word circulated among Arab delegations here that the front had dropped its condition that France must recognize Algerian independence before talks could start.

A joint Washington statement from King Mohammed and Secretary of State Dulles said that in their talks on Algeria the King expressed hope for a "peaceful solution" through friendly negotiations. Dulles also stated the United States favored "a peaceful, democratic and just solution."

Six Persons Killed in One Accident

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Six Illinois residents, all Negroes, died in a head-on car-truck collision near Corning yesterday, and a man was killed in a crash at a Little Rock intersection, putting Arkansas' Thanksgiving Day traffic fatality toll at seven.

The Negroes, all from Maywood, Ill., were killed when their car smashed into a transport truck seven miles west of Corning on U. S. Highway 67.

State Trooper Rue Luter said the Illinois car pulled out to pass a slow-moving line of traffic. It was a truck driven by Edward Nushum, 23, of Elkhart, Ind.

Dead in the tangled wreckage of the car were the driver, Frank J. Joshiway, 23; Elouise Spitts, 19; Huey Banks, 20; Earline Hall, 20; and Mrs. Hall's two children, Helen, 10, and Ernestine, 9. The truck driver was not seriously injured.

C. A. McGlothlin, 46, was killed at Little Rock when his car was involved in a collision with a vehicle driven by Thomas E. Cook, 17, of Houston, Tex.

McGlothlin was driving his mother, Mrs. Gertrude McGlothlin, 67, to his home for Thanksgiving dinner. Mrs. McGlothlin was treated at a hospital for shock. Cook apparently was unhurt.

Believes Missile Lag Worse Than First Thought

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (U) — Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said today three days of testimony on the status of the U. S. missile program shows the situation "is worse than I thought it was."

Kefauver, a member of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee conducting the missile-satellite probe, said in an interview the testimony by defense officials, intelligence specialists and scientists added up to "shocking evidence of how the country has gotten behind" Russia in certain scientific-military fields.

But the Tennesseean said "the picture is not hopeless," adding: "We've got to give more money and attention to missiles, satellites and scientific development and education. We can catch up and get ahead if we only put our will to it."

In saying testimony showed the U. S. missile position in relation to Russia is worse than he thought it was, Kefauver refused to go into detail.

Other subcommittee members who sat in on a closed-door intelligence briefing Wednesday said afterward they heard a "sad and shocking" story on Russian military-scientific progress. The briefing was given by Allen Dulles, chief of the Central Intelligence Agency.

These senators, too, declined to say just what they learned from the CIA chief. But it was reported last night the subcommittee was told Russia now has a few submarines, possibly four, capable of firing a missile with a nuclear warhead up to 700-900 miles. Other vessels in Russia's fleet, estimated at about 450 boats, were reported being readied for such missile equipment.

One informant said the reported Soviet sub-missile capability "means they are practically in a position to wipe out any major city on the eastern seaboard." He did not say, however, that any of the Russian subs now are stationed within missile range of the East Coast.

The CIA was quoted by one source as reporting the Russian subs could launch missiles while still submerged. The weapons were described as of the "cruise" type—presumably a guided missile slower than a ballistic missile.

Cotton Quotas to Be Voted on Dec. 10

Cotton growers will make an important decision on Tuesday, December 10, H. B. Gilbert, Chairman of the Hempstead County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, reminds farmers.

On that day, growers will vote in a referendum to decide whether marketing quotas will be in effect for their 1958 upland cotton crop. All farmers who engaged in the production of upland cotton in 1957 will be eligible to vote in the referendum.

"If at least two-thirds of the growers voting approve the quotas," Mr. Gilbert explains, "marketing quotas will be in effect on all farms growing upland cotton in 1958, penalties will apply on 'excess' cotton, and price supports to those growers who comply with their cotton acreage allotments will be available at the full level of effective supports. Under current legislation, this support will be between 75 and 90 per cent of parity, the minimum level within this range depending upon the supply situation at the time the determination is made."

Patient on Leave Fails to Return

LITTLE ROCK (U) — A 16-year-old State Hospital patient who held off dozens of police with a rifle here last spring failed to return from a brief hospital leave yesterday, but was captured today.

The sheriff's office said Frankie Joe Wilson was taken into custody at the home of an aunt without incident.

Supl. Granville Jones said Wilson was released yesterday for a Thanksgiving dinner with his grandmother, then refused to return and fled.

In the incident last spring, the youth fired some wild shots from a house besieged by police who were called to the scene because of a disturbance. Wilson was overpowered. No one was injured.

British Papers Approve Bombs on Planes

LONDON (U) — While Laborites continued to express misgivings about U. S. bombers making training flights from Britain with 40-bombs aboard the British press rallied to the Conservative government's stand today.

The most widely read paper in the country, the Daily Mirror, Mirror, said today East-West tensions fully justify arming the bombers with nuclear weapons. The independent news agency usually supports the Labor party.

The carrying of bombs was revealed in the House of Commons Wednesday when Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd said he "should think" they do. Prime Minister Macmillan stepped in to quell some of the apprehension raised.

Macmillan said U. S. authorities have taken elaborate precautions to prevent a nuclear blast should a bomb-carrying plane crash. He explained that the planes carry bombs in separate parts that have to be expertly assembled before a nuclear explosion is possible.

"Can you give an assurance," he was asked by Labor Leader Hugh Gaitskell, "that there is no danger of one of those aircraft being to crash off a nuclear explosion resulting?"

"Yes, sir," the Prime Minister replied. "I am told there is no danger of an explosion."

The American government forces make it a practice to keep always ready, when one of these patrols is in the air from our bases, a special tanker machine which can go up and drop fuel on an aircraft so that, if there was a question of it not being able to land in this country, it could fly back to its own base in America."

First Baptist Loyalty Day Is Sunday

Sunday, Dec. 1, has been designated as loyalty day at the First Baptist Church and First Baptist Mission.

In the six week pre-Christmas emphasis, next Sunday was set as loyalty day with a goal of pledging the $71,000 budget approved by the church for next year.

As an incentive for the membership at large, the elected officers of the church, deacons, finance committee, Sunday school officers, and training union officers were asked to pre-pledge their portion of the budget on last Sunday, from this group which represents 14% of the resident church membership, 50% of the budget was pledged. It is a goal to encourage the remaining 84% of Baptist people to pledge the remaining 50% of the budget.

A goal of 573 has been set in Sunday School and we are looking forward to having our college students home for the holidays in the service next Sunday.

President Able to Make Trip to Gettysburg

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (U) — President Eisenhower came to his farm home here today for at least a weekend of quiet recuperation from the mild stroke he suffered Monday. The 60-mile automobile trip from Washington was regarded as a new demonstration of rapid recovery progress.

British Papers Approve Bombs on Planes

WASHINGTON (U) — President and Mrs. Eisenhower set out by automobile today for a weekend or more at their Pennsylvania farm in a striking new demonstration of his speedy recovery from a mild stroke.

The President, piling the move on top of yesterday's burst of activity which included surprise attendance at a Thanksgiving church service, went with full approval from his doctors, the White House said.

The plan for the trip to Gettysburg, announced yesterday on a "hope" basis, was made firm earlier today on the basis of a new medical report of continued "excellent" recovery progress.

"The doctors have agreed it is perfectly all right for him to make the trip, press secretary James C. Hagerty said.

Some 150 to 200 persons waited near a White House gate to watch the Eisenhowers leave.

The president and First Lady smiled and nodded to the onlookers.

THE STORY: Jim Bennett, a private investigator, has been assigned by his agency to the Howard case. Hugo Howell seeks to break off a romance between his son and Sandra Osterman. Jim believes they are already married, but agrees to check the woman's background.

CHAPTER X

When I came to the last cottage the path ended. I stopped, peered between tree trunks and saw a pretty back yard, a minnow pond, a low-slung canvas chair, a yellow-navy surplus inflated raft. On the grass beside the chair was a green and yellow striped towel and a small brown jar which I guessed contained suntan lotion. I waited a moment, saw no one, and then walked across the grass to the back door of the cottage. I rapped loudly on the screen door and waited. Receiving no response, I walked around to the front. I went up three wooden steps and rapped again. Nothing happened.

I gazed across the sand to the lake and sat there for maybe 10 minutes more, enjoying the sun and the breeze. Then I stood up, wondering if I should wait any longer. Maybe Sandra Osterman or her brother or Wayne Howell was on the bench in front of the hotel. I started around the cottage, but before I reached the corner I saw with a small start of surprise that the reclining canvas chair in the back yard was now occupied by a girl in a white bathing suit.

I recognized the girl I'd seen by the beach and started forward. When I neared the chair she turned to gaze at me. I said,

"Good morning," and stood by her chair. Her legs were long and slim, smoothly tanned. She removed the sun glasses and gazed up at me coolly. Her eyes were a deep blue, bright with an almost flinty glint, with tiny lines at the corners. She had a short, thin nose with delicately flaring nostrils. Her mouth was small, but she had made it appear larger and fuller by the skillful application of lipstick. She was 30, maybe older, but still an attractive and desirable chunk of female. And she knew it. "Good morning," she said.

Her lips curved in a faint smile and she leaned over to pick up one of the packages of cigarettes on the grass. The movement caused the suit to fall away alarmingly. She placed a cigarette between her lips.

I struck a match and held it for her. She drew on the cigarette, and then looked up at me through swirling smoke. I had the feeling that all of her movements were delicate, calculated, and decided that a strange man, any man, was her dish, to handle as the mood pleased her. "If you're looking for Vic," she said, "he won't be back until tonight." "I wanted to see Wayne Howell. My name's Bennett."

She motioned toward the beach. "Wayne's down along the lake somewhere." Her lips curled a little. "Wayne dearly loves rock formations. And sediment. And fossils." She looked up at me. "I was sure you were someone to see Vic, someone scientific and boring."

"I'm not scientific," I said. "Maybe I'm boring. Who's Vic?" "My brother," she said. "Doctor Osterman. Not an M.D., but very scientific." She gazed up at the clear blue sky, gracefully poisoning the cigarette to her lips. She had a bathing beauty pin-up pose. "Didn't I see you up by the hotel a little while ago?"

"That was me," I said. "I saw you, too. So you and Wayne and your brother are living here this summer?"

She turned her head and gazed at me slantwise. "Did you think Wayne and I were living here alone?"

I knew by then, of course, that she was Sandra Osterman, the woman Hugo Howell called a scheming, greedy woman who, according to Howell, was interested in his pure and innocent son for the sole purpose of getting her hot little hands on the money in Wayne's trust fund. I said to her, "Why shouldn't you be living here with Wayne? You're married, aren't you?"

Her gaze shifted away from mine. She drew on the cigarette, and then said in an oddly strained voice, "Who told you that?"

"Wayne."

Still she didn't look at me, and a small frown appeared between her smoothly plucked brows. She ill on Monday. Hagerty said Eisenhower briefly discussed with Adams and Goodpastor some phases of the legislative program to be sent to Congress when it convenes in January.

Hagerty indicated the papers signed today were of a routine nature and would be made public later after they have been returned to the agencies concerned, in accord with executive routine. They dealt with memorandums, tariffs and some other matters, Hagerty said.

Vice President Nixon came to the White House shortly before Eisenhower's departure time, but Hagerty said he conferred with members of the staff and did not see Eisenhower.

Hagerty said he had not seen Eisenhower this morning but both Adams and Goodpastor reported the President looked well.

Messages voicing hope for Eisenhower's speedy and complete recovery have arrived from the heads of many counties, Hagerty said. They included messages from both Nikolai Bulganin, Soviet premier, and Nikita Khrushchev, Communist party head.

Eisenhower pulled one big surprise yesterday. He went to Thanksgiving Day services at the National Presbyterian Church.

There were these other encouraging developments:

1. The White House physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, put out another medical bulletin reporting the President was continuing to make excellent recovery progress.

2. Eisenhower may go to the Dec. 16-18 Paris NATO Council meeting after all. The White House said Eisenhower's doctors will decide later. Vice President Nixon will head the U.S. Delegation if Eisenhower can't go.

3. The President presided at the White House Thanksgiving dinner. With him and the First Lady in the family dining room for portions of a 40-pound turkey were their four grandchildren and the youngsters' parents, Army Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower.

4. James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, reported that in his biomedical opinion the President is having much less speech difficulty—the only abnormality his doctors noted after his seizure. Hagerty said he found it hard to believe how much improvement there has been in Eisenhower's speech.

When he stopped by at the White House later, Nixon said he planned to meet with Sherman

Decision Soon on Nixon Going to NATO Meet

By JOHN A. HARRIS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House may announce a decision soon as to whether Vice President Nixon will sit in for the convalescing President Eisenhower at the NATO summit conference in Paris next month.

Nixon has said he is ready to go, and apparently the NATO Council expects the vice president to attend the meeting which opens Dec. 16.

The council said yesterday in a statement released in Paris that "It learned with satisfaction that Vice President Nixon would lead the American delegation."

However, the final decision apparently has not yet been made.

If Nixon gets the assignment, he would be catapulted into great international prominence at a time when his role as vice president has taken on added significance at home.

He has spent many hours at the White House since Eisenhower was stricken Monday with a blockage of a small brain artery.

Nixon has maintained throughout that he was not assuming any presidential duties, and has said he expects Eisenhower to be back on the job after a short period of convalescence.

Nixon stood in for Eisenhower yesterday in bidding farewell at the airport to King Mohammed V of Morocco, who was leaving after three days of talks with U. S. officials.

When he stopped by at the White House later, Nixon said he planned to meet with Sherman

Death Toll on Highways Nearing 200

Highway deaths across the na-

Adams, Eisenhower's top aide, Nixon added the purpose of his visit was to "see whether there are any loose ends that I can take care of."

It was at the airport that Nixon, in response to queries from newsmen, indicated his willingness to go to the Paris NATO conference.

"I am always ready to do whatever President Eisenhower wants me to," he said.

Nixon added that the question as to "who would make up the United States delegation" will be submitted to Eisenhower.

tion edged toward the 200 mark today, while the fatality count rolled in from Thanksgiving holiday traffic.

Four separate accidents took 19 lives. Six died in an Arkansas collision, five in another crash at Darien, Conn., four in crashes in Illinois and in Iowa.

At 9:30 a.m. c.s.t. a United Press count showed that since 6 p.m. Wednesday there were 185 traffic deaths. Three died in plane smashups and 23 in other mishaps for an overall total of 211.

Leading among the states was Ohio with 18 deaths. Others with high totals included California, 15; Michigan, 13; New York, 11; Texas, 9; Illinois, North Carolina and Pennsylvania, 8 each.

Although the National Safety Council declined to give an estimate of how many people would be killed during the weekend, officials pointed out that a normal four-day period in November died, and Harold went up to look after their personal effects.

Two weeks later, the girls at the information desk read that Harold had died. It was one of those stories. He had jumped or fallen from his 12th floor apartment.

But the sharpest etching in loneliness you'll find in New York is at the Automat, the coin cafeteria. Mostly people who come in to eat at an Automat are out in 20 or 25 minutes. The widows and the old maids take longer.

I have it on the word of one Automat manager that, having nothing else to do, having sat in the park or caught a movie or watched the afternoon TV in their room, they can't resist coming to the cafeteria for dinner as early as 5 p.m. Then they try to stretch it to 9 or 10.

I sat near three such old ladies one afternoon. First, they got their silverware and napkins, and then they spread extra napkins as table-mats. Then they talked. Then they got their tomato juice. Then they talked. Then they got their main course. Then they talked. Then they got their dessert. Then they talked. Then they got their tea.

The conversation I overheard was something like this:
"I hear Frank had a heart attack. And he has such a good job, cashier."

"That's too bad." Pause. "You know this tomato juice is improving."

"Soon, it'll be time for me to wear my green coat," said one of the old ladies, rubbing arthritic fingers, trying to maintain her dignity with no place to go, nothing to do.

"Doris said a swell man took her out. I'll find out what a swell man he is. I'll find out."

The tone implied she hoped to find out the man wasn't so swell. "Sylvia bought a new hat and a new dress. Her children had her out last Sunday. They paid for a cab both ways."

This brought a long pause until finally the third woman, who wore a bird's nest hat, sighed. "I think," she said, "I'll get some dinner."

DOROTHY DIX

A Selfish Woman
Deserves No Help

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a divorcee with two small children; we live with my mother. Mother is my problem; she's changed radically in the past few months. Her money has always been my money; she'd do anything I wanted her to, give up friends, pass up dates, etc. Now, she hides part of her money from me. I've talked to her about it, but she says I get all the rest and have no complaints. I've scolded — and actually hit her, but she keeps on withholding this money. Furthermore, she's been seeing some of her friends again, people I heartily dislike. How can I convince her that I need the money more than she does?

UNLOVED
Dear Unloved: I don't think I ever read a letter from a person who deserved the name more than you do. You wrote a five-page letter, giving quite an insight into one of the rottenest characters I've ever encountered. As for Mom, I think the worm is turning, and

I sure hope she flips completely. If she reads this, and recognizes your charming self, may it incite her to a bloodless revolution. No mother should be expected to make sacrifices to an ungrateful child who can give no love and so deserves none. If mother wants moral support, I hope she writes to me. I'll advise her to put you out of the house, but pronto.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a widow with two teen-age daughters. I wouldn't dream of going anywhere without them, and the boy friend of my oldest girl (17) is making life very miserable for me. He won't tell Adele when he's coming over, and she sits in the house every night waiting for him.

Consequently, I can't go visiting or take in a movie. I work during the day, and would dearly love to see my sisters during the evening hours. What can we do with this inconsiderate boy?
MRS. W. T.

Dear Mrs. W. T.: You are the one who needs attention. Who is the boss of your home — you, the girls, or their boy friends? It seems to be the boys, but definitely should be you. Tell your on-again off-again visitor that he may call Friday and Saturday nights. The other nights you're taking off for visiting. Oh, you'll meet with sulks for a week or two, but they'll disappear in time.

Dear Dorothy Dix: How should a wife sign her name after her husband's death? My husband has been dead four years and I still sign my name as I did when he was living.

MRS. F. R. J.

Dear Mrs. F. R. J.: And so you should continue unless you remarried. The name is no less yours because you are widowed.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Is it all right to walk up to a boy you like and ask if he likes your friends?

WONDERING
Dear Wondering: It would certainly be uncouth, and startling to say the least. Can't your feminine ingenuity think of a more subtle way to ferret out a fact?

Since 1950 Arizona's population has risen from 750,000 to 1,600,000.

Hill, Crow Make Coaches Star Team

By BOB BOBOR
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UP) — The South and Midwest, each with three players, dominated the 1957 All-American football team selected Friday by the American Football Coaches Assn.

The coaches choose as the finest players at their positions this season:

ENDS — Jim Phillips, Auburn and Dick Wallen, UCLA.

TACKLES — Lou Michaels, Kentucky and Bob Reifsnnyder, Navy.

GUARDS — Aurelius Thomas, Ohio State and Jack Simpson, Mississippi.

CENTER — Dan Currie, Michigan State.

QUARTERBACK — King Hill, Rice.

HALFBACKS — John Crow, Texas A&M, and Clendon Thomas, Oklahoma.

FULLBACK — Walt Kowalezyk, Michigan State.

Ballots were cast by all members of the Association, including the 35 outstanding coaches who make up the United Press football rating board. The grid tutors based their picks on what they saw for themselves on the playing fields, on scouting reports, and on reviews of movies of key games played through Saturday, Nov. 23.

The schedule of Solunar Periods, as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times. If you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

The Major Periods are shown in boldface type. These begin at the times shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter. The Minor Periods, shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration.

Texas Pulls Upset Over Aggies 9-7

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UP) — A trap play, created by Coach Darrell Royal of Texas for just this occasion, and the kicking tips of sophomore Bobby Lackey and veteran Walt Fendren brought the Longhorns a 9-7 victory over Texas A&M yesterday.

It knocked Texas A&M, the 1956 champion, out of the Southwest Conference race, shoved Texas into second place and made it possible for the Longhorns to win the championship should Rice lose to Baylor Saturday. Rice, however, is an 8½-point favorite.

It also gave Texas, which won only one game last year, a 6-3-1 season—a sensational showing for Royal, who took over the sagging fortunes of the Longhorns only this year.

Lackey, playing against enemy Texas A&M for the first time, scored all the points.

He made his first quarter touchdown that was set up by a great 62-yard quick kick by Fendren and he booted a 28-yard field goal in the third period that put the Longhorns out of reach.

Halfback John Crow finally tied for the bitterly fighting Aggies in the fourth quarter. He grabbed Roddy Osborne's pass for 57 yards and later smashed over from the two.

The trap play, which Royal credited with furnishing the power for the victory, had the Aggies baffled almost every time. It consisted of the quarterback—Lackey or Fendren—faking, then handing off to a halfback, who would go through a hole at guard or tackle created by the trap.

And to make it more exasperating for the Aggies, the quarterback at times would fake the trap, then turn and pitch out to the fullback, going around the end.

It was a bitter defeat for Paul Bryant, coach of Texas A&M, whose team was rated No. 1 in the nation a few weeks ago when it had won eight straight games. Then the Aggies lost to Rice 7-0 and fell to fourth place.

But Bryant stressed that the loss of this game wasn't influencing him in going to Alabama as coach—if he does. After the game yesterday, he said in the dressing room:

"There is one and only one reason I would consider it. Some think I could help. Alabama is my school, and if I was convinced I could help I certainly would consider it."

Bryant has been mentioned frequently as a successor to V. B. Whitworth at Alabama, the school and once was an assistant coach. The Aggie coach has seven years where Bryant played his football for on this contract here.

Scrappers High in Big Victory Over Bobcats

The Nashville Scrappers used a devastating ground attack to down the Hope Bobcats by a score of 33-20 on Thanksgiving day in Hamilton's Stadium.

The Scrappers single wing machine, piloted by Woody Futrell, scored in the first quarter with a fullback Futrell plunging over from the 6 yard line. Joe Cowling kicked the P. A. T., and at the end of the first quarter, Nashville was leading 7-0.

Mitchell Just Wants Job in Home State

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Jack Mitchell, named the head football coach at Kansas yesterday to no one's surprise, is the second in three years to forsake Arkansas for a coaching job in his home state.

He followed Bowden Wyatt to Arkansas after the 1954 season, when Wyatt returned to his alma mater—Tennessee. Wyatt's Razorbacks won the Southwest Conference championship that year and went to the Cotton Bowl, New Year's day 1955, losing to Georgia Tech.

Mitchell, who will be 33 Tuesday, is an Oklahoma product, although a native of Kansas. He played under Coach Bud Wilkinson, quarterbacking the Sooners in 1946, 1947 and 1948.

He said yesterday money was no object in his leaving Arkansas. He was being paid $10,000 yearly there under a contract that had nine years to go. He will get the same here for five years, the highest salary ever given a Kansas coach.

"My wife, Jeanne, and I were born in Kansas, raised in Kansas and plan to live our lives in Kansas," he explained. The Mitchells call Arkansas City, Kan., their home town.

The Razorbacks won 23 games, lost 16 and tied one in Mitchell's three-year tenure. Before that he was head coach at Wichita, where he won 13, lost five and tied one in two years. Wichita won the Missouri Valley Conference title in 1954.

Dr. John Tyler Caldwell, president of the University of Arkansas, wished Mitchell success and foresaw little difficulty in securing a successor.

"We are pleased that we have a superb situation to offer a football coach," Dr. Caldwell said.

Mitchell succeeds Chuck Mathers, who leaves Kansas after his best season. The Jayhawks finished second in the Big Eight with a 4-2 won-lost record and 5-4 overall. Mathers came here in 1954, losing all 10 games that season and posting 3-6-1 records in 1955 and 1956.

"The decision to leave the fine University of Arkansas was a difficult one, for we have been happy, indeed, these last three years," Mitchell said. "On the other hand, we are very proud to return to our home state."

In announcing Mitchell's terms, Kansas Chancellor Franklin D. Murphy said there are no fringe benefits.

He referred indirectly to reports that Mitchell would get a rent-free home, television commitments and other sources of additional income. Mathers was getting $11,000 a year.

The Mitchells have two sons, Jackson, 7, and Judson, 3.
